

ADAM TAYLOR

Adlex Solicitors
76A Belsize Lane
London NW3 5BJ
UK

OVERVIEW

Educated at Trinity College Dublin, Adam qualified as a solicitor in Ireland in 1987 and in England in 1991, having passed the New York bar examination in 1986.

Since 2001, Adam has operated his specialist internet and domain name law firm, Adlex Solicitors.

Adam has delivered over 400 decisions as a domain name dispute panelist for WIPO (UDRP), Nominet (.uk) and the Czech Arbitration Court (.eu).

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

2001 to date: Principal at Adlex Solicitors handling domain name disputes as well as other online legal issues such as internet reputation, website terms and privacy, and web-related contracts.

2001 to date: Domain name dispute panelist including for Nominet UK, WIPO and the Czech Arbitration Court.

1991–2001: Solicitor and, since 1996, partner at City of London law firm Withers Worldwide. Head of E-Commerce and Technology Group dealing with internet, technology and intellectual property disputes.

1985–1991: Trainee / assistant lawyer at Taylor & Buchalter (Dublin), Davis, Markel & Edwards (New York) and Waltons & Morse (London)

EDUCATION AND QUALIFICATIONS

1991: Admitted to the Roll of Solicitors in England and Wales

1987: Admitted to the Roll of Solicitors in Ireland

1986: Passed New York State Bar Examination

1984-85: Law Society Course, Dublin,

1980–1984: LLB (2.1 Honours), Trinity College Dublin

PERSONAL INTERESTS

Writing poetry and lyrics.